PRESENTATION

For its 9th edition of our popular annual international study tour, we will bring you in two incredible cultural cities: Casablanca and Marrakesh.

Started for the first time in New York City in 2013, the ENCATC International Study Tour aims to foster international exchanges of ideas, projects, and best practice among participants coming from different world regions. This year it will be a unique and intensive experience will be provided through discovery with special focus on aspects of development in Morocco. As we will be in the two cities of Casablanca and Marrakesh, participants will benefit from gaining two very different perspectives of arts and culture.

During the first day of the visits in Casablanca, participants will discover the urban jungle and its rich cultural and urban heritage. The development of Casablanca coincides with pioneering research in space planning. In this sense, the city has been a true experimental laboratory. The visits will reveal a hybrid aesthetic called Neo-Moorish, resulting from the mix of Art Nouveau, Art Deco and Bauhaus styles and local architectural know-how. The walking tour will be an opportunity to show the coexistence of the three monotheistic religions in the old medina of Casablanca and the rehabilitation of certain places of worship in cultural spaces.

This first day ends with the visit of the art gallery CARRÉ CRÉATEURS, a gallery founded by artists Caroline PEYRON & Hakim DAOUDI, is located in the heart of the hip district of the Golden Triangle. This visit offers the opportunity to discover the universe of talented artists, but also to exchange with them about the influence of the world of finance in the listing of art in Morocco.

Continuing in Casablanca, during this second day of the visits, it is about presenting Moroccan cultural policy by highlighting its spheres of influence, its privileged partnerships, but also its history: The Maghreb in the Arab world (link with Dubai, Turkey and formerly Egypt...), the African policy led by Mohammed VI, but also the complex relationship that Morocco has with France: What is the place of French alliances in the Moroccan cultural landscape? The impact of colonization? And then, the major European cultural projects on Moroccan territory?

To contextualize this cultural debate, it is interesting to decipher the social reality of the country: the relationship to art in education, protest, and Islam. In this context, we can, among other things, address the issue of the language: highlighting the divide between the French-speaking elite and the Arab-speaking majority and thus, explain the underlying issues of the government’s Arabization policy, or in contrast, present how the music scene the Darja dialect has been appropriated to free speech, and the Tifinagh language (Berber language) which was belatedly recognized as an official language has become a symbol of reclaiming identity.

We will also listen to civil society actors who will present their cultural practices. This second day ends with a visit to L’UZINE, a multidisciplinary cultural and artistic space dedicated to the creation, the transmission and the meetings between the public, the artists and creation. It is also a question to honor the artists who question norms, move the lines, and take risks... We will look at angles like: Is social injustice the engine of creative anger? Which structures accompany alternative artistic forms? What censors? What transgressions?

During this third day of visits we will be in Marrakesh where participants will discover the Yves Saint Laurent Museum and the magnificent Majorelle Garden. These visits are an opportunity to return to the close links that have been woven between the international art scene and the “ocher city” of Marrakech (in reference to the red color of a large part of his buildings and its houses). This is a true love story that has transformed Marrakech into a glamorous city in which the stars and creators of Europe and Africa rub shoulders.

During this fourth day in Marrakesh, the participants will be able to discover the traditional “souk” of the mythical place of Jemaa el-Fnaa, a square and marketplace in Marrakesh’s medina quarter (old city) to the industrial zone of the creators designers of Sidi Ghanem. The focus will be on design and its relationship with traditional crafts. We will also meet with local gallery owners and artists. How can tradition and modern business mix and help one another? How is Morocco’s rich knowledge of artistic craftsmanship and know-how being promoted abroad? What are the implications for local artists? For local economic development?
Finally, the last day of visits will include a visit to the Museum of Contemporary African Art, MCAAL, another meeting with local artists, as well as an Artist Residency.

This exciting 5-day programme has been made possible thanks to the design and implementation Géraldine Bueken from les trois plumes asbl and Manuèle Debrinay-Rizos who have served on the International Study Tour’s Scientific Team.

To offer a rich and innovative learning experience before, during, and after the study tour, participants will gain access to unique learning material thanks to our partnership with Med Culture that will contribute to deepening their experience about Morocco as well as the Arab region.

For a second time, we are partnering with the World Leisure Organisation to assist in the dissemination of this ENCATC initiative as well as to bring networking opportunities between members of the two organizations.

The study tour is also made possible thanks to the support and co-funding received from the Creative Europe programme of the European Union. ENCATC is very proud to have this strong partnership and the recognition of the European Union to value the work ENCATC does.

OVERVIEW OF THE CULTURE SECTOR IN MOROCCO

LEGISLATION AND FUNDING

LAW 22.80 DATED DECEMBER 25, 1980 ensures the conservation and protection of Moroccan cultural heritage by regulating the registration and documentation of Historical monuments, sites, inscriptions, art pieces, and antiques.

THERE ARE TO DATE TWO LEGISLATIVE TEXTS MANAGING THE “AFFAIRS” OF ARTISTS:

- THE STATUTE OF ARTISTS of Aug. 25, 2016: Law No. 68-16 on the Artist and the Arts and Crafts (August 25, 2016) sets the conditions of exercise of these trades, the terms and criteria for granting and withdrawing the artist’s card and the professional card of technicians and administrators of artistic performances.

- THE COPYRIGHTS of Feb. 15, 2000: The Communication Department of the Ministry of Culture and Communication, oversees the implementation of Law No. 200 on Copyright and Neighboring Rights (February 15, 2000)

MOROCCO has ratified the UNESCO conventions in 2005 for the promotion and protection of the diversity of cultural expression & for the 2003 Convention for safeguarding of intangible cultural heritage.

RABAT was included in the UNESCO World Heritage List in June 2012

Cultural enterprises are subject to VAT rate of 20% (i.e. movie theatres, galleries, etc.)
2. There is a reduced rate of VAT at 10% (instead of 20%) for works of art.

Art and cultural associations are subject to the tax law provided for all other private companies, and so they do not benefit from any tax exemption.

There is no law on sponsorship that would encourage donations to the art and cultural sector.

Freedom of expression and creation is still fragile, and there were recent cases of censorship and prohibition of cultural and art events.

The Ministry of Culture is the main source of funding for culture in Morocco. It is the only party offering support programs for the fields of music, theatre, dance, book, publishing, visual arts, and cultural associations.
THE MINISTRY OF CULTURE SUPERVISES:

Cultural institutions
- 17 music academies and 7 visual art galleries
- Cultural institutions which enjoy financial autonomy
- Mohammed V National Theatre in Rabat
- The National Library
- Archives of Morocco in Rabat
- Training institutes

Cultural events
- The International Publishing and Book Fair
- 25 festivals with a heritage character revolving around traditional arts

The National Foundation of Museums
- Manages 13 national museums

6 millions EUROS
THE TOTAL BUDGET OF THE STATE IN 2017

10 YEARS
20% GROWTH ON THE BUDGET ALLOCATED FOR CULTURE

The share of culture has increased from 0.17% of the total budget of the State in 2003 to 0.23% in 2012 and 0.95% in 2017 (knowing that UNESCO recommended percentage is 1%)

Many sponsors are enabling the realisation of cultural and art events in Morocco i.e.

- Telecom operators
- Banks
- Industrial groups
- Real estate developers
- Holdings

INFRASTRUCTURE

The big majority of structures are located in the big cities of the structures (association, union, public and private structures ...) and places of creation, training and dissemination, all disciplines combined, are located in the axis Tangier-Rabat-Salé-Kénitra-Casablanca-Marrakech

50%

31.6% Books, Publishing and Public Reading Sector
14.2% Music

12.7% Cinema
12.4% Visual Arts
9.0% Theatre

There are more places of dissemination and creation than places of training.
The House of Culture of the city of El Hajeb (east central Morocco) is a great example of the operation of a public body attached to the Ministry of Culture.

The EAC L’Boulevard association has allowed for the emergence of the new music scene in Morocco thanks to the L’Boulevard festival for young musicians.

The Darja Space (Casablanca) In 2016, professionals in contemporary dance published a manifesto calling for the implementation of a public policy of culture that offers efficient tools to support and accompany dancers and choreographers of today, and tomorrow, in the formation, creation and dissemination of their works.

The February 20, 2011 movement: New cultural spaces that promote the proximity and democratization of access to culture have opened their doors in Casablanca, with the support of private foundations (L’Uzine, Center Les Etoiles de Sidi Moumen).

The associations in the suburbs are more and more dynamic and at the origin of various initiatives (Agadir, Azrou, Tiznit, Oujda ...)

GENERAL AUDIENCE

A national survey on the cultural practices of Moroccans was conducted in 2016 by the Racines association. Results on www.culturalpractices.ma

There is no survey on the cultural consumption and practices of Moroccans

Low demand and willingness to pay for culture by the public

Low engagement of youth in culture

CIVIL SOCIETY:

Dialogue between civil society and the State is gradually developing “Etats Généraux de la Culture au Maroc” within the framework of the event “National Forum on Culture in Morocco” organised by the Racines association.

The 3rd edition is scheduled for November 2018 under the theme “Cultural Policies in Regions”

MUNICIPALITIES MANAGE:

Cultural Facilities

Municipal Libraries

The amount of funding for local authorities depends on the budget of each municipality and municipalities are under no legal obligation to fund culture.

STUDY TOURS (at date 28.05.2019)

CARRÉ CRÉATEUR
Carré Créateur in Casablanca is a place of creation by the creators with a focus on fashion, art and design.

L’UZINE
L’UZINE is a multidisciplinary cultural and artistic space dedicated to the creation, the transmission and the meetings between the public, the artists and creation. It has as missions to offer: a space of expression through art and culture; a work space (reflection, rehearsals, creation) to artists (music, dance, theater, photography, cinema, comics); a space of diffusion to the Moroccan and international creation; a space for meetings and exchanges around creation; members workshops, internships, meetings with experienced artists and professionals, and master classes. Located in the heart of Ain Sebâa, the Uzine cultural space allows through its actions, whether broadcast or transmission, to decompartmentalize the neighborhood and open on the territory of Casablanca through culture and culture. http://luzine.ma/luzine-que-ce-que-cet/

YVES SAINT LAURENT MUSEUM
Fifteen years have gone by since the last Yves Saint Laurent runway show at the Centre Pompidou and the closing of the couture house that bears his name. Located very near the Jardin Majorelle – acquired by Yves Saint Laurent and Pierre Bergé in 1980 – the musée YVES SAINT LAURENT marrakech occupies a new 4,000 m² building. It includes a 400m² permanent exhibition space devoted to the work of Yves Saint Laurent and designed by Christophe Martin. The museum also includes a hall for temporary exhibitions, a research library with over 5,000 volumes, a 140-seat auditorium, bookshop and terrace café. The facade of the building appears as an intersection of cubes with a lace-like covering of bricks, creating patterns that recall the weft and warp of fabric. As with the lining of a couture jacket, the interior is radically different: velvety, smooth and radiant. https://www.museeyslmarrakech.com/en

JARDIN MAJORELLE IN MARRAKESH
The Jardin Majorelle in Marrakesh is one of the most visited sites in Morocco. It took French painter Jacques Majorelle (1886-1962) forty years of passion and dedication to create this enchanting garden in the heart of the “Ochre City”. In the garden path turns unexpectedly, revealing a building with Moorish charm, with a hint of Art Deco, painted in astonishingly vibrant primary colors, glowing with an intense blue the artist perceived in the Atlas Mountains. Be soothed and enchanted by the harmony of this luxuriant and vivid imagery, which issues a delicate summons to the senses, offering a calming retreat near, and yet so far from the bustling city, sheltered from time by high earthen walls. [http://jardinmajorelle.com/ang/]

MUSÉE BERBERE

In his speech on March 9, 2011, echoing the founding of the Royal Institute for the Amazigh Culture in 2001, His Majesty the King Mohammed VI evoked the “plurality of the Moroccan identity, united and rich with the diversity of its branches, and at the heart of which is Amazigh, the heritage of all Moroccans.” The new Moroccan constitution, adopted in July 2011, rendered official the Amazigh language. It was in this context that the Jardin Majorelle finalized a long anticipated project and opened its Berber Museum. There are three sections: (1) Know-how, both tangible and intangible, which transforms a great diversity of raw material into artefacts for daily or ceremonial use. (2) Sets of jewels that illustrate age-old beliefs and knowledge. (3) A sense of grandeur expressed in costumes, weapons, weaving and decorated doors. All these objects invite the visitor to appreciate the beauty of Berber art across rural Morocco. They testify to the rich diversity and creativity of this culture. [http://jardinmajorelle.com/ang/introduction-to-berber-culture/]

SIDI GHANEM

Due to lack of space in Marrakech, many craftsmen have taken up residence in Sidi Ghanem, allowing them to find the necessary space to link workshop and showroom. Today the industrial district of Sidi Ghanem offers to meet a large number of craftsmen in many areas, such as: Furnishing, decoration, household linen, garden furniture, candles, lighting, objects, bedding, wrought iron, porcelain, leather goods... But also other brands for clothing, transport, air conditioning, food, even cars.

“SOUK’ IN MARRAKESH’S MEDINA QUARTER (OLD CITY)

The traditional “souk” in mythical place of Jemaa el-Fnaa, is situated in a square and marketplace in Marrakesh’s medina quarter (old city) is during the day predominantly occupied by orange juice stalls, water sellers with traditional leather water-bags and brass cups, youths with chained Barbary apes and snake charmers despite the protected status of these species under Moroccan law. As the day progresses, the entertainment on offer changes: the snake charmers depart, and late in the day the square becomes more crowded, with Chleuh dancing-boys (it would be against custom for girls to provide such entertainment), story-tellers (telling their tales in Berber or Arabic, to an audience of locals), magicians, and peddlers of traditional medicines. As darkness falls, the square fills with dozens of food-stalls as the number of people on the square peaks. The square is edged along one side by the Marrakesh souk, a traditional North African market catering both for the common daily needs of the locals, and for the tourist trade. On other sides are hotels and gardens and cafe terraces, and narrow streets lead into the alleys of the medina quarter.
FOUNDATION DAR BELLARJ
Dar Bellarj Foundation Marrakech is located in the oldest district of Marrakech, close to Ben Youssef Madrasa. This foundation aims to promote the living culture in the medina: transmission of knowledge, appropriation of traditions,... It organises concerts (Sufi music, among others), performances, workshops (theater, calligraphy, music ...), and exhibitions. Among the exhibitions: adobe construction, the art of stucco, colors and scents, Ashura, the Agdal Gardens and the water, embroidery. If many cultural institutions have claimed to bring culture to people who are poor, the strength and originality of the Foundation is to have understood that that was the essence of Moroccan culture was more related to traditions, at oral practices, original and modern, it was essential to recognize, value. Better aware that cultural activities can not ignore the social realities, the Foundation argues, for example, initiatives such as the Albassar Association which works to screen for cataract among craftsmen. http://riadaguaviva.com/dar-bellarj-foundation-marrakech/

RIAD YIMA GALLERY
Hidden on the medina just in the spices place Rahba laktima, Riad Yima is a spectacular labour of love that took three years to complete, with every detail very carefully made by the artist’s hand. The artiste Hassan Hajjaj acquired an old house in Marrakesh, gutted and rebuilt it into a jewel riad witch is transformed recently into Boutique Gallery and Tea room. The Riad features his artwork, furniture design and products. Fusing east and west, his works range from witty photos of Arab life to recycled furniture made from African advertising signs. Hajjaj’s work encompasses a wide range of techniques and fields. He designs and produces furniture as well as clothes for fashion. http://www.riadyima.com/

MUSEUM OF AFRICAN CONTEMPORARY ART AL MAADEN (MACAAL), The Museum of African Contemporary Art Al Maaden (MACAAL), Marrakech is dedicated to the promotion of African contemporary art through its continuous support for leading artists from Morocco and neighbouring countries and the public display of their works. The museum’s collection, consisting of digital art, painting, sculpture and video, illustrates the Fondation Alliances’ commitment to providing universally accessible contemporary art, while supporting cultural development in Morocco. Its mission is to disseminate, educate, and popularise art in Morocco and within the continent, namely among younger audiences. http://macaal.org/en/

TAHANNAOUT ARTIST RESIDENCY
Here artists-painters, sculptors, designers, musicians, writers and poets like to meet to share their feelings of the world and to seek together how better to understand it to make it even more beautiful. It is here that they also find refuge and that they can rest in small bungalows which are not spartan despite their modest appearance, but which are the authentic testimony of the work of the hand of the man and the 'artist'. MEET DISTINGUISHED SPEAKERS

Batoula Bencheikh, born in Tafraoute, Amazigh region in southern Morocco, graduated from ESMODE school in Rabat. She began her professional career in swimsuit design and lingerie before achieving her childhood dream: launch of her "Gan Yan" brand. Through her chic, glamorous and timeless creations, she reflects the symbiosis of her plural cultures from which she draws her inspiration. For her, clothing is a vector of exchange between cultures. It carries with it the local fabrics and the local customs and habits: ‘I consider the dress as a crossroads of various influences, I like to bring to the local authenticity, the techniques and the esthetics of elsewhere’. "Gan Yan" is the story of our humanist values, which means in Amazigh: "we are all the same".

Bouchra Bendany is a Board Member of the ‘Dante Alighieri’ Institute in Casablanca.

Dounia Benslimane is a medical doctor (2003) who dedicated herself to cultural activism and management. In 2010, she co-founded Racines in Casablanca (Morocco) and is currently its Development & Partnership Director. From 2011 to 2013, she was in charge of the programming and management of "La Fabrique Culturelle des anciens abattoirs", an independent contemporary arts space in Casablanca. Dounia is a member of several cultural NGOs in Morocco, Africa and Europe. She produced many reports and studies on cultural policies, artistic freedom and cultural management for the British Council, Freemuse, MedCulture, Istanbul Bilgi University. She obtained the European Diploma on Cultural Projects Management of Marcel Hicter Association (Brussels, Belgium) in 2014. Les trois plumes asbl is a narrative incubator specializing in publishing and audiovisual, and promoting North-South creative, cultural and educational collaborations. The association, founded in Brussels in 2005 by Chantal Léonard, a youth editor, currently gathers a group of authors, producers, illustrators and teachers from Belgium, France, North Africa and Africa, all united around the same passion for positive stories: convinced that fiction is a formidable tool to fight against stereotypes and racism. The members of the association came together to promote the emergence, development and dissemination of stories capable to promote building bridges and looking for common ground, but also to give rise to new utopias. Over the last 10 years, the association has, among other things, published books, organised events, and designed and produced various media programmes in collaboration with Unicef, the King Baudouin Foundation, the Nike Foundation, and the WBI, while pursuing, in parallel, its permanent work of scouting and accompanying young talents.
